Short resume

My background is in:

- recruitment processes in marine fishes,
- fish ageing, stock enhancement of marine fishes,
- integrated ESE (Ecosystem, Social and Economic) modeling,
- Surplus Production Modeling,
- MPA (Marine Protected Area) and
- aquaculture of marine fishes.

In the period 1992 – 2005 I hold the position as Professor in Aquaculture at Norwegian School of Veterinary Science, Oslo. I have published 104 peer reviewed scientific articles (12 as single author and 16 as first author) and co-editor of 13 proceedings and scientific books, including a text book on cultivation of cold-water marine fishes. I have been convener or on steering committees of several International Symposiums. In addition, I have hold position as Program leader for four years, Section head for five years and Research Director for eleven years at the Institute of Marine Research.

Since 1998 working as Section head and Research Director at the Institute of Marine Research (IMR) in Norway. In my period as a Research Director I have established the IMR Advice and Research Program on Coastal Zone Ecosystem. I have played an active role in establishing a WG within ICES on coastal zone issues (ICES WG on Integrated Coastal Zone Management; WGICZM; established in 2005). In addition, I have been responsible for the research cooperation with Europe, North-America (USA and Canada) and countries in Latin-America. I represented the institute in the European Marine Board (EMB), European Polar Board (EPB) and Partnership for Observation of the Global Oceans (POGO). Since 2016 member of BiodivERsA Advisory Board.
